

Liam Marr is a British singer, songwriter and multi-instrumentalist. Best known for being a founding member and joint singer songwriter of London based street punk band Booze & Glory and Banjo Player for London Irish band Neck.

Leaving Booze & Glory & London behind in 2018 Liam now resides in Sydney Australia where he has continued making music and currently working on solo projects.